I am writing to tell you that I am very dissatisfied with the current Microsoft antitrust settlement.

I strongly agree with the Settlement Enhancement proposed by RedHat inc. ( see: http://www.redhat.com/about/presscenter/2001/press\_usschools.html )

Allowing Microsoft to install their software in schools would turn the US public school system into one of the largest customer bases for the company. This seems to be antithetical to an anti trust settlement, and turns punishment into an award.

Please read the alternative settlement proposed by RedHat inc.

It suggests that Microsoft donate computer equipment to public schools, and RedHat provides software and unlimited support, also for free. This is a win win scenario, because it doubles the benefit to the schools, and prevents Microsoft from widening their influence.

Thanks for your time,
